Campus Updates and Highlights
Las Varas Ranch
In December we announced the acquisition of Las Varas Ranch, a 1,800-acre agricultural property located six miles west of our campus.

This land was gifted to our campus through the tremendous generosity and unique vision of philanthropist Charles T. Munger, who is interested in the long-term benefit of our campus. We are most grateful to him for blessing our campus with a gift that will benefit our campus for generations to come.

For a long time, UC Santa Barbara will maintain the property in its current state as a working ranch.
Ocean Road Housing Project
The Ocean Road project, approved as part of our Long-Range Development Plan, will ultimately provide up to 540 units – some for rent, some for sale – for campus staff and faculty. The 16-acre parcel extends from El Colegio Road to the coastline.

New Classroom Building Project
UC Regents in November approved the preliminary plans for our new classroom building

Information from the Sheriff’s Office and UCSB Police Department

Thank you!

Announcements by the Chair
Chair Bohn reported on the items that are currently under consideration by the Academic Council, including the ongoing Elsevier negotiations. It was expected that there would be continued access through January at no cost, but faculty were advised that it was not likely that there would be a successful outcome anytime soon. The Library will assist with the provision of article content in various ways.

Academic Council continues to discuss the criteria for implementation of the systemwide Transfer Admission Guarantee (TAG). There is some concern about the impact that UCSB will experience, particularly given that UCLA, UCB, and UCSD do not have local TAGs. It is anticipated that a large number of students may apply, but without the intention of actually enrolling at UCSB, which will make it more difficult to project enrollment yield. Proposed criteria will be disseminated for systemwide review. A task force has been formed to explore standardized testing within the admissions process.
The report of the Task Force on Universitywide Policing is currently under review. There is a possibility that each of the campuses will be asked to form an advisory board to assess policing practices and make recommendations to the Administration. Further revision of Bylaw 336 is also being reviewed by the campuses.
